Thailand's 2002 Petroleum and Petrochemical Industries in a Snapshot
Plus Petroleum and Petrochemicals Statistics

PTIT FOCUS SPECIAL ANNUAL ISSUE 2002

"Riding the Waves for Survival"

"Riding the Waves for Survival" reflects the renewed spirit among the government and the business in pulling themselves out of economic woes since the financial crisis into a new course of life. In particular, the Thai petrochemical industry that has undergone a series of rationalization is set to stand on its feet once again. The Thai petroleum industry, both upstream and downstream sectors, also showed a marked recovery thanks to the improved economy that spurred energy consumption. On the government side, the new Energy Ministry established in 2002 is expected to make energy affairs more efficient when relevant agencies are gathered under a single umbrella. The picture of the Thai petroleum and petrochemical industries and energy related articles are summarized in the following articles:

- ◆ Thai Economy Review and Outlook
- ◆ Establishment of Thailand's New Energy Ministry
- ◆ Thai Upstream Petroleum Industry Review and Outlook
- ◆ Thai Downstream Petroleum Industry Review and Outlook
- ◆ Petrochemicals: Saga of the Three Casualties
- ◆ A Wake-up Call for Thailand's Hazardous Chemicals Transportation
